Dear Jim:

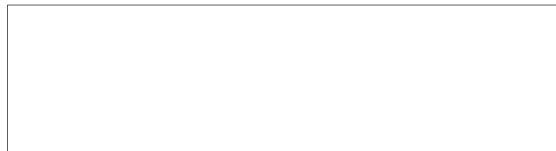

As you retire from the Agency after almost 28 years of government service, I would like to take this opportunity, on behalf of your many friends and colleagues, to extend our sincere thanks for your dedication and loyalty.

You leave behind a solid record of accomplishment of which you can be proud. I can assure you that your linguistic, operational, and managerial contributions have been truly appreciated. Even more important, you leave behind a large number of colleagues who were recruited and trained by you, who have had the distinct pleasure of working with you, and who have developed a deep respect for your abilities, integrity, and compassion.

As you move now into this new and well-deserved stage in your life, you take with you the affection and esteem of all of your many friends in FBIS. I know they join me in wishing you many happy, healthy, and fruitful years of retirement.

Sincerely,

STAT
